Report of the Board of Health.

TO THE SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF EPPING :

In accordance with the annual custom, the Board of Health of the Town of Epping herewith present this as their report for the year 1903-04.

At the beginning of the year we had on our hands one case of small pox and several cases of diphtheria, which, owing to the necessary quarantining of several families, made a perceptible increase in the expenditures, but by strict economy and constant watchfulness we were able to keep the expenses below the average of towns in similar cases, as the reports will show.

The vaults and sanitary arrangements at Watson Academy have been remodelled and ventilated under our direction during the year, and are now in excellent condition and should remain so for many years.

During the spring terms of school we had all the pupils examined for successful vaccination and record books left in each division to be filled out by the teachers whenever any new pupil was admitted, and all unvaccinated children were ordered to at once comply with the law of the State before they could be enrolled in the schools.

We have had during the year one case of small pox, two cases of typhoid fever, ten cases of diphtheria and one case of membranous croup reported to the board, but there has been no epidemic or unusual amount of sickness that has come to the notice of the board, and the board has no recommendation to make at this time.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I shall try to tell you in this, as in many previous reports, something of the working of your schools and point out some of the pressing needs, which, if met, would insure their future prosperity.

On the whole, no loss has been sustained in the amount or quality of the work done during the year.

While we have suffered by repeated changes in teachers in one or two schools in town, we have materially gained in other directions. Our experiences with the Grammar and West Epping schools have not been for the best interests of those schools, but now the schools throughout the town, to all appearances, seem well organized and managed, and the teachers are alive to their responsibilities and are doing good work.

Especial mention might be made of the four outside schools without reflection upon the village schools. The improvement in the amount and kind of work done, the tone and spirit of the government and the increased regularity and interest in these schools has been very marked and is to be commended.

The teachers in charge seem to be well adapted to their several schools. Good progress is being made in all branches and an excellent spirit prevails.

As much may be said of the village schools; they are holding steadily to a standard of thorough and progressive work through the best methods.

It would seem to me a great misfortune to lose any of the present corps of teachers. They should be retained in their present position if possible.

The accompanying detailed report gives a list of the teachers up to the close of the Spring term. The present corps is as follows: High School, Mr. F. T. Johnson; Grammar, Miss Margaret A. Butler; Intermediate, Miss Alice E. Bragdon; North Primary, Miss Vira Horner; South Primary, Miss Charlotte D. Morrison; Hedding, Miss Grace G. Knight; Red Oak Hill, Miss Mary E. Folsom; Prescott road, Miss Mabel S. Brown and West Epping, Mrs. Ethel W. Wark.

Some changes have been made in the opening and closing of some of the rural school buildings during the year, because of the fluctuating number of children in these sections, and the difficulty in getting suitable conveyance to other schools.

It seemed wise at the beginning of the spring term to reopen the North River and Prescott Road schools.

The North Epping school has been closed since the spring term, and the children from that section have been conveyed to the Red Oak Hill school. The Hedding and Exeter Road schools are still combined.

The fact that your schools exist because you have children to be educated should never be lost sight of. Your children are your greatest heritage, and they should be trained to the best of your ability. Every other activity of your lives should center around the best training and development of your children.

A social atmosphere of industry and refinement which is both instructive and recreative, a moral standard of honesty and integrity, and a religious creed that is reverent and practical are ideal environments for the children and youth of any community.

I believe the citizens of Epping for the most part appreciate the true spirit of our public schools, and sympathize with the efforts made to make them what they should be; also recognize the discouraging features which arise from time to time to interrupt their progress.

The schools of any town are always subject to criticism, and we welcome any and all just and fair criticism, whether favorable or adverse, when it comes from persons who are familiar with the facts and conditions that exist. Any true teacher or school official will be helped and encouraged by a frank expression from any of their constituents.

There should be a hearty co-operative spirit manifested by all the factors in a school unit. Only when such relations exist can the best system of schools be maintained.

Your town is what your schools and churches make it.

Remove these two institutions from your midst and there would be a general exodus to more congenial (?) climes.

The public educational meeting held a few weeks ago, also the recent exhibition of your High school students, with its results, are highly commendable and give evidence of good interest and enterprise.

In my last report a strong appeal was made for your school buildings and their outhouses.

This great need has been generously met during the year. Nearly all of them have been thoroughly repaired inside and out, much to the credit of the town and the comfort and pleasure of pupils and teachers. A detailed report of the repairs and improvements will be found in another part of the school report.

Your attention was called last year also to the condition and needs of your High school. The conditions are materially the same as at that time. Its needs are (or will be) much more imperative now than a year ago. During this year your principal has been teaching three classes, each class performing the required work of a first-class High school. The work is very satisfactory, but the time of the principal has been so completely taken for the regular class work that no time is left for extras.

Next year there should be four full High school classes in attendance. This will surely necessitate more teaching service. I would recommend the employment of an assistant teacher for the High school who shall be capable of teaching some of the specialties recommended by Mr. Johnson, as typewriting, stenography, music or art, so that the course could be broadened if desired. Then I would form a preparatory class in the High school room to take the place of the ninth grade in the Grammar school and to be taught by the High school teacher.

This class should begin algebra and Latin and possibly physical geography in addition to a good thorough review of the grammar school subjects. This plan would cut the under course to eight years or grades and allow the sixth grade to be transferred to the Grammar room, and relieve the congestion in the Intermediate room and still not change the present work of the Grammar room, in quantity at least.

Such an arrangement would raise the high school to the required standard for state approval and relieve the town from all obligation to pay tuition to other high schools or academies.

It would give the high school two first-class teachers for its five classes, and remove one grade from the under schools, thus giving them a better chance, and materially strengthen the whole system of village schools.

This would seem to me to practically provide for the future management of the schools wisely and economically.

I am tempted to offer one other suggestion or query in relation to the management of your village schools. I shall attempt no discussion(?) but ask the questions and leave it for you to think of. Why, with the present enrollment of pupils, should you maintain two primary schools within a mile of each other, doing identically the same work, instead of giving each teacher employed, below the high school, two grades each, or doing away with one primary teacher and pushing the third grades up to the intermediate room?

The Wentworth series of arithmetics have taken the place of the old books which have been in use for several years, and are being appreciated.

Aside from the arithmetics, your text books are practically as last year with an added year's wear and tear. The language books and geographies and many of the histories are in bad condition,—soiled, worn and ragged. Quite an outlay will be necessary to duplicate or exchange the books unfit for use.

There is great need of a change in several of the high school text books. Many of them are old editions of the authors and have been displaced in most modern schools by new editions or more recent publications of the subject. The work in rhetoric, general history, physical geography and Latin, especially, would be pursued with much more interest with new and up-to-date books on these subjects.

The regular general visiting day for teachers was declared off at the beginning of the year, and only such days have been taken by the teachers as seemed to be for the best interests of their individual schools.

The accompanying statistical tables should be of interest to every citizen. Your attention is especially called to the "Comparative Table," which shows Epping's standing and progress as related to the state, county, and other towns in our district.

I wish again to express my grateful appreciation to all who have in any way co-operated with me in the management of the schools of Epping during the year just closing.

Respectfully submitted,

EDGAR E. HULSE, Superintendent.

Derry Depot, N. H., Feb. 18, 1904.

The foregoing report of the Superintendent explains fully the work and condition of the schools, also some of their most urgent needs, and further remarks seem unnecessary along that line.

At the last annual meeting the district appropriated the sum of five hundred dollars for the repair of its school houses, which has been expended as follows: The South Primary house has been painted on the inside and shingled, the Intermediate room has been painted, also fence around grounds at this house has been painted. At Hedding there has been built a new shed and out-house, the school house has been shingled and painted on the outside. The house at North Epping painted on outside, the house at Red Oak Hill painted on inside, the house at West Epping shingled and painted on inside, also several other small repairs made at all of these houses, including plastering of Intermediate room, South Primary room and Hedding.

There are yet some more repairs needed to make the buildings more serviceable and give them an attractive appearance. This should not require a large outlay, but if a small sum could be appropriated for repairs each year, the buildings could be kept in better condition and at a much less expense than if left until they require a large outlay at one time.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN J. TILTON, }
EDWIN S. FOLSOM, } School Board.
